Terms & Conditions

The minimum purchase for Pable Sustainable Fabrics is 1M and applies multiples.

The color of the yarn, fabric, and fiber we produced cannot be the same because it depends on the availability of the textile waste color we can process at the moment.

Each product is woven manually by artisan weavers. It means the fabric's characteristics, motifs, and shapes will always be different in each production. The number of fabric and fibers stocks can change at any time.

The custom motif is possible with MOQ in the amount of 300 m.

(T&C applied) For further information, you can contact us at info@pableliving.com.

Weaving The Future

When we declare Pable as Sustainable Solution, we don't say it with no grounds. In contrast, it's based on the closed-loop model that we include in our system.

A closed-loop model is an approach of the logistic process under the Circular Economy concept. It adopts a circular system where Waste can turn into Resources. Thus, waste becomes the raw material, the most valuable object of any production.

Through Made to be Made Again, Pable breathes the model into life. It is a circular system where we process textile waste into new products. So by doing that, Pable is reducing the amount of textile waste while at the same time also prolonging the life cycle of the unused products by recycling it.

Moreover, it gives us the opportunity to re-tell the Classic Tale of Waste from a positive perspective.

It's what we believe in as Sustainable Solution!

Suri is the mid-weight fabrics made of all recycled cotton & polyester without any dyeing process.

PERTAMINA
FEATURING OUR SURI ABU KELIR

The colour from each Suri fabric is heavily determined by its resources. It implies the color from any Suri product is inconsistent because it is influenced by the dominant shade from some specific colors. This condition is connected to our commitment to save freshwater by eliminating the dyeing process from our production. Suri is the ideal variant between Pakan and Sekir, not too thin and not too thick, comfortable, and fit well for daily wear.
